

The Right Tool for the Right Job

Marty Sugerik – School Improvement Instructional Coach, Southern Regional Education Board

Teaching virtually has been overwhelming on many levels – the number of digital tools available to us during this pandemic has been abundant to say the least. Which digital tools will optimize your teaching? This session will provide a simple cost-benefit analysis to help teachers strategically choose the right tool for the right job. Since last March, five tools are being used in many sites across the country that have enduring qualities regardless of the blended learning environment. Participants will have an opportunity to engage with these tools and see how they are being used in a variety of ways to enhance teaching, such as highly effective questioning, checking for understanding, and formative assessment.
